

FRENZIED VOTING THE ORDER AT MONONGAHELA

Claimed There Is Lack of Balance in Ballots and Registration

IN SECOND PRECINCT

Election Board Summoned to Appear in Court to Show How They Tabulated

Alleged irregularities in the vote from the second precinct of the second ward, Monongahela, has caused the members of the election board, E. T. Nichols, judge; Finley Deane and J. P. Hendrickson, inspectors and Horace L. Yohe and S. Clark Wills to be summoned to appear before the court Wednesday according to the Washington Record. They will be interrogated as to how it is possible for 424 votes to be counted when there are only 338 registered voters in the precinct. This system of frenzied voting is to be thoroughly investigated. The votes don't balance by 104.

When the return sheet was hung out after the official tabulation had been made at Monongahela, the discrepancy was discovered. Archie Powell, the candidate on four tickets for Auditor General was the chief beneficiary of the high vote. On the Republican ticket he received 96 votes. The Bull Moose ticket added 4, the Roosevelt Progressive 11 and the Washington 149, giving him a total of 260. The other candidates for the office of auditor general received the following votes, according to the return sheet: Cresswell, Democratic-Keystone, 113; Conon, Prohibitionist, 12 and Eldridge, Socialist, 40 or a total of 424.

The presidential vote seems to figure out correctly, according to those who say they have looked into the matter. Taft received 44 votes, Wilson 101, Roosevelt 3 on the Bull Moose, 6 on the Roosevelt-Progressive and 123 on the Washington or a total of 142. Debs was given 35 and Chafin, the cold water candidate, 7. These total 319.

For congress the discrepancy is not as large as for auditor general but it apparently is 69 votes too large. The return sheet posted up shows Matthews to have received 69 votes, Lacock 110, Temple 160, Pobles, Prohibitionist, 11 and Prethy, Socialist, 37.

On the legislative ticket the vote was as follows: Allison, R., 72; Feeney, R., 59; Walker, R., 74; C. Cranson, D., 148; McFarland, D., 114; Post, D., 117; Fish, P., 12; Hall, P., 12; Van Orden, P., 8; Goazious, S., 38; Norman, S., 37; Reed, S., 39; J. I. Carson, K., 1; Johnson, K., 1; Allen, W., 134; Brownlee, W., 133; McCalmont, W., 131.

ONE DEAD AS RESULT OF A FEUD

Shooting in Fayette Is Caused by Quarrel Years Ago

START INVESTIGATION

One brother is dead and another dying as the result of a shooting at Albany, near Brownsville Sunday morning. The affair was the culmination of a feud that began across the sea years ago. The unidentified foreigners were the assailants.

The Dead: STEVE WALLICK, aged 23, a miner of Albany.

The Wounded: GEORGE WALLICK, aged 21, a miner of Albany; fatally wounded; taken to McKeesport Hospital.

The place where the shooting occurred was within sight of several houses. The Wallick brothers are said to have greeted the strangers, who pulled revolvers and began firing. Steve Wallick fell with a bullet through the heart. George Wallick received a bullet in the abdomen. The gunmen replaced their revolvers in their pockets and walked away.

County Detective John Smith and Sheriff M. A. Kiefer of Fayette county were notified and are at work on the case. Friends of the Wallick brothers can give no reason for the attack except differences which arose in their native land.

Big Feature at the Palace.

A gripping, human interest drama has been booked for the Palace Theatre Monday. This is "The Past That Returns," in three reels, which tells the story of a good woman gone wrong and her bitter repentance when she realizes the consequences of her act. It is a powerful emotional plot of love, happiness and despair, in which the extremes of human emotion are most graphically portrayed.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR TWO BOROUGHES

Ellsworth and Cokeburg Combine Efforts and Good Work Draws Commendation of State Superintendent Schafer

In his annual report, of which advance proof sheets have been released to the press, Dr. N. C. Schafer, state superintendent of education, has a word of praise for Washington county districts in regard to industrial education. In discussing the progress he points to a striking instance of good methods, saying:

"In Washington county the Ellsworth and Cokeburg boards have united in an effort to establish industrial work in their schools, suitable to the mining region in which the villages are located. Ninety per cent of the school populations are of foreign parentage and 95 per cent of the boys return to the mines upon reaching the age of 14.

"A study of the local conditions at Ellsworth and Cokeburg resulted in the following work being suggested for the schools: Handwork for both boys and girls in the first four grades, cooking, sewing, home nursing, laundering and sanitation for the girls, principles of mining law for the boys in the fifth to eighth grades, inclusive and in addition to the mining law for the boys in the seventh and eighth grades, manual training, reading and drawing of simple maps.

"The principles of mining law, reading and drawing of maps, measuring of brick, area-ways and gangways were recommended for the continuation class. This class is open to boys from 14 to 18 years of age who are employed in the mines and provides for one-half day a week for instruction. (It is entirely possible that the boys enrolling in the continuation class will be paid for such time by the colliery company.)

"Mining law, mining arithmetic and mechanical drawing will be taught in the night vocational school so as to aid the men in their preparation for the mine examinations. Manual training, cooking, sewing, mining law and mechanical drawing will be part of the high school work.

"These various courses are being organized at the present writing and by December 1, barring unforeseen difficulties all departments will be in operation. The work at Ellsworth has been made possible by the hearty co-operation of Prof. C. B. Robertson of the University of Pittsburgh. Superintendent Bach and the officials of the Ellsworth Collieries Company."

Speaking of manual training schools which are being rapidly introduced in the state, Dr. Schafer calls attention to a new phase of the situation, by quoting the words of a prominent superintendent, who has encountered obstacles in existing factory laws. This superintendent says:

"It seems to me unwise to pass laws to prevent children from working in factories and mills under 14 years of age and then tax the communities to provide similar work in the schools on the plea that the children should be taught in the schools to use such machinery in order to earn wages after they leave school, when they could learn its use in a factory or mill, and receive wages while learning."

HAS HEAD SEVERED WHEN RUN OVER BY SHIFTING ENGINE

Run down by a shifting engine on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad at Monessen George Rovnok, aged 20, was instantly killed Saturday night at about 9 o'clock. His head and both arms were severed from his body. Rovnok was employed as a water boy. It is supposed he got mixed in the tracks on which he thought the engine was approaching and was hitting trying to escape.

TRYING TO BOOST SALE OF CIGARETS BY MOVING PICTURES

An effort is being made by a certain tobacco company to boost the sale of cigarettes through the instrumentality of moving picture theatres. Coupon tickets are being sent to the theatres which are presumably to be stamped with the name of the theatre and turned over to the dealer, who in turn gives them out to the purchasers of the cigarettes. Each coupon is then to be redeemed by the theatre for one-half cent.

While the moving pictures theatres pretty generally are rejecting the proposition, it might be well for them to realize that they are likely to get in wrong with the law if they take up the proposition. According to the laws of Pennsylvania it is illegal to sell cigarettes to a minor under 21 years of age. A theatre manager who honors the cigarette coupons would have to exercise the same care that a saloon keeper does against selling liquor to minors, otherwise he might be held as an accessory in the illegal sales of cigarettes. As in all likelihood more minors would present coupons than adults moving picture theatres would have more trouble with the propositions than they would profit.

Anyhow, the most of the managers consider it would be only encouraging children in the habit of smoking cigarettes, and for that reason alone will have nothing to do with the proposition.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD BY KNIGHTS OF MALTA COMMANDERIES

Knights of Malta from all along the Monongahela valley attended union memorial services of the order held at Monongahela Sunday afternoon. The services were held for Siege of Acre Commander, No. 357 of Monongahela; Monessen Commandery No. 359 of Donora. The speakers for the occasion were Hon. M. Clyde Kelly of Braddock and Past Commander J. M. Sembower of Uniontown.

IN HOSPITAL WITH BULLET IN ANATOMY

A man by the name of Anderson, said to be better known as "Tiger Dan" is an inmate of the Monessen Charleroi hospital suffering from a revolver shot wound inflicted early Sunday morning at Wireton. It is not known how Anderson happened to receive the wound which is in the shoulder. He will recover, although the injury is serious.

TOO MUCH SNARL FOOT GETS FOUR INTO TROUBLE

Four individuals whose acquaintanceship in the borough is somewhat limited, taking in few except regular visitors to place where they sell wet goods and the members of the brass-button efficiency squad, wandered into town Sunday to go on a spurge. They secured from heaven knows where, red paint enough to fresco the town and proceeded by easy degrees to that stage where they felt frolicsome and full of mischief. They wanted to play, but their pastimes were interrupted by the appearance of the strong-armed protectors of the public peace. Amid tears the erring ones were placed in safe-keeping. Not being blessed with an accumulation of wealth they will probably be put to work. Saturday night there were three of the same class lodged in a durance vile for the same reasons that those of Sunday were cared for.

SMALLPOX COSTLY TO COMMUNITY

Dr. Dixon Makes Report of Epidemic at Carbondale

MERCHANTS SUFFERED

Reduction in merchants' receipts $60,000. Of this amount 20 per cent or $12,000 represented the loss of actual profits, $12,000; loss to hotel proprietors, $3,500; loss to proprietors of places of amusements, $4,500; loss in railway receipts, $3,437; loss in street railways, $700; expense to the city for guard service, physicians, fees, disinfections, etc., $6,567; maintenance of quarantined families, $2,000; total, $31,000.

These figures do not include the losses sustained by quarantined wage earners, the loss of the railroad companies on inbound business or the loss to the smaller merchants and business men through stagnation of trade. $31,000, a heavy price to pay for a lock on the stable door.

It has been demonstrated that public health is a purchasable commodity. The work of Col. Gorgas in the Canal Zone is an irrefutable example of that fact. The failure of a community to guard itself against preventable disease is due to incapacity on the part of the officials whose duty it is to protect the public health, parsimony or both.

The Carbondale Board of Health failed to require the reporting of chickenpox. In the majority of cases so called chickenpox in adults, in the Continued on second page.

Roscoe Youth Shot in Leg When He Trips and Falls

IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Amputation Found to Be Necessary and Operation Will Be Performed

The first hunting accident of this community reported this morning, may end fatally to John Shoup, a 16-year-old lad of Roscoe, who accidentally shot himself at noon today and it was stated that it would require an amputation of his injured limb at the hip. Fears are entertained for his recovery.

With a few companions the young man was out hunting this morning on the opposite side of the river from Roscoe. Tripping over a hidden branch of a fallen tree he went down. His shot gun was knocked from his grasp. Something struck the hammer and the gun went off.

The muzzle of the weapon was almost against his leg when the gun went off. Shot filled the fleshy part of his leg near the thigh and entered the bone. He cried for help and secured the aid of his friends. Dr. Lutes of Roscoe was summoned and the young man sent to the hospital, with his father. He is a well known lad in Roscoe and vicinity.

Good Clothes for Well Dressed Men

Suits for $15.00 to $45.00
Overcoats $15.00 to $50.00

Why not come to Horne's in Pittsburgh and select the clothes you will wear this winter? Why not be dressed in the METROPOLITAN way?

We buy our clothes from makers who put individuality into their product, and who sell them to us BECAUSE OF THAT FACT, not merely because they are an extensively advertised line.

The men of the country have demanded a change from "boiler front" coats to the soft rolling lapel and the natural shoulders.

We have them—different, yet not extreme; stylish yet not faddish.

Hundreds of men from your town and other towns are coming to us for their Suits and Overcoats this Fall because THEY GET SOMETHING DIFFERENT.

ROUSED THE AUDIENCE

A Mining Camp Melodrama With an Unexpected Climax.

Joseph Jefferson used to say that his career came very near being nipped in the bud in a small western town. He at that time was a member of a small pioneer company which progressed by means of three "bull teams" from one mining camp to another. They were always heartily received by the miners and cowboys, who readily paid the $5. in gold required to witness their performance. Mr. Jefferson was the traditional melodramatic villain and in the third act was supposed to kidnap "the child." The supposed mother, hearing its cries, rushes upon the scene just as he is about to escape and fires a fruitless shot from a revolver.

Upon this particular occasion all had gone well until this scene was reached, and the audience, many of whom had never before seen any kind of theatrical performance, sat as if spellbound. At the crack of the mother's revolver, however, the spell was rudely broken. "By heaven she missed him!" a red shirted miner in the front row shouted, drawing his own six shooter and leaping to his feet. "Round to the back door and head him off 'fore he can get a boss, boys!" he yelled, and following him, half the audience stampeded for the exit.

The excitement was finally allayed by the "mother" and the villain appearing hand in hand before the curtain and the manager's explanation of the situation. When the performance had been concluded the audience insisted on paying another admission price and having an immediate repetition from beginning to end.

A Little Misunderstanding.

"Sir, your son's performance on the French horn is execrable. It will drive everybody from my house. You told me he was a teacher."

"I did not. I said he was a tooter."

Reason For Gratitude.

"So you're friendly with Cranker, are you? Why, he tells me that he won't have a thing to do with you."

"That's just why I feel kindly toward the old crab."

Subtle Slander.

A local paper giving the details of a wedding says: "Mrs. Mullins, the wife of our enterprising milkman, was becomingly attired in watered silk."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Speak as you think; be what you are; pay your debts of all kinds."

Bismarck's Strategem.

While Bismarck was living at Frankfurt, early in his career, he was one day at a public table with a friend, when two young ladies who sat opposite began talking to each other in the Lettish language. From their manner it was evident to Bismarck that they were talking about him. It happened that he had once made a visit to Courland, one of the Baltic provinces, and had picked up a few Lettish phrases. When the ladies had talked and laughed for some time he whispered to his companion:

"The moment I say something to you in an unintelligible tongue take a key from your pocket and hand it to me."

The young ladies kept on, and suddenly Bismarck laid in an unconcerned tone to his friend:

"Dobd man to aziek."

The second man at once produced a key. The young ladies from Courland looked at their opposite neighbors, then at each other and, blushing violently, rose and left the room.

How White China Was Discovered.

Of many incidences in which an accidental discovery revolutionized a whole industry there is none more striking than that which enabled Samuel Astbury, in 1720, to impart to pottery that white glaze which is its chief beauty. Chancing, while journeying to London, to halt at Banbury, he noticed that one of his horse's eyes was badly inflamed. He consulted the hostler, who hung a red-hot dart into a basin of water, thereby easily reducing it to a powder, which he applied to the injured eye. Astbury, who had watched the process, guessed that at length he had solved the problem which had so long perplexed him. He procured a cartload of darts, had them fired and pulverized and, mixing the powder with pipe clay and water, applied it to his ware, which, after the final baking, became white and shining. This invention, which he improved upon by introducing calcined flint into the body of the ware, was soon universally adopted.—Exchange.

Beauty of Colonial Gateposts.

Perhaps no other feature adds more to the seclusion and dignity of a home than well designed entrance gateposts. The meeting point of house and grounds always presents a difficult problem, even in the most suburban architecture. Shrubby, often militates this with a desirable intersection, but the old fashioned white picket fence, full of interesting detail and backed up by hedges, solved the problem most satisfactorily. Yet this best solution must be used with discretion. The suburban street broken up into many small lots, there should be an agreement on the part of several neighbors to put up the same sort of fence; otherwise the different heights and shapes of the pickets would be too disturbing to and any beauty to the houses. In other words, a good picket fence demands a certain amount of continuity to do it justice. In the gateposts, however, a great variety could be displayed, and where there is a group of little colonial houses, or even only colonial doorways, the famous old gateposts of Salem offer a wealth of suggestion.—Country Life in America.

Under a Fly's Wing.

One of the Nuremberg toy-makers enclosed in a cherry stone which was exhibited at the French Crystal Palace a plan of Sevastopol, a railway station and the "Messiah" of Klopstock. In more remote times an account is given of an ivory chariot, constructed by Mermecides, which was so small that a fly could cover it with its wing; also a ship of the same material which could be hidden under the wing of a bee. Pliny, too, tells us that Homer's "Iliad," with its 15,000 verses, was written in so small a space as to be contained in a nutshell, while Elian mentions an artist who wrote a dictionary in letters of gold which he enclosed in the rind of a kernel of corn. But the Barleian manuscripts mention a greater curiosity than any of the above, it being nothing more or less than the Bible written by one Peter Bales, a chancery clerk, in so small a book that it could be included in the shell of an English walnut.

How Curious.

A circus man tells a story illustrating how soft hearted and sympathetic some of the ringmasters are when the acrobats get hurt. The heroine of the story was a girl who did the four horse act, the six horse act, the trapeze and the flying bar, for all of which she received the princely remuneration of $40 a week.

One day she fell forty feet from the trapeze and, landing precipitately and ill advised on her left wrist, broke the bone near the elbow. The ringmaster, ran up and sympathized as follows, with certain profane remarks which are here excluded:

"What in thunder do you mean by falling out of that trapeze? I'm a sor of a cat if some of you zinks don't try to put a cramp into this show every time we lift the tent!" Popular Magazine

Slightly Mixed.

General Adam Bader told a good story of a visit he once made in London to his friends. "They had arranged to meet me at a certain time in the west end, and when they arrived they were met by a man of gigantic stature, who rose high in the air."

"I was amazed," he said. And the spokesman replied modestly, "General Bader, Colonel Grant and Colonel Cook."

With depressing stride the Bentley advanced to the door, where it was wide open and a crowd of General Bader, Colonel Grant and Colonel Cook.

Jackals and Crocodile Eggs.

Jackals and hyenas are very fond of crocodile eggs. The former is the most successful poucher of the two. The natives of central Africa say that the jackal has sixteen eyes, with one of which he catches the eggs and with the fifteen others he looks out for the crocodile. The hyena, on the other hand, being very greedy, has all his eyes on the eggs and so often falls a victim to the watchful crocodile in motionless hiding. The natives say, too, that the crocodile sometimes knocks its prey off the bank or off the canoe with its tail and then seizes it with its wide open jaws.

A Queen Anne Mince Pie.

Take a large cow's tongue, parboil it to three pounds of tongue take five pounds of beef suet, cut the tongue in thin slices and shred it, but shred the suet by itself; when they are both pretty hot put in the suet by degrees, keep shredding them both together till they are as fine almost as flour, then put in three pounds of currants, being first clean washed, picked and dried, cloves, mace, nutmegs, cinnamon, beat very fine all together three-quarters of an ounce; beat a pound of white sugar, a pound of dates, stoned and shredded, three ounces of green citron, three ounces of candied orange cut into small thin bits, the yellow rind of two raw lemons grated, three spoonfuls of verjuice, a gill of mullaga suck, half a gill of rosewater. These being well mixed fill your pie; have a care they do not stand too long in the oven to dry after they are just enough.—From a cookbook of 1705.

Metals.

Mercury, of course, is fluid at all or nearly all temperatures. Of the metals which we commonly regard as solid, lead can be made to flow with great ease. If by hydraulic pressure it is forced into a cylinder with a hole in the side of it it will, when the cylinder is full flow out of the hole in a solid barlike stream. The border metals, as gold and silver, obviously undergo slight tartion movements in the process of coming, as iron is not perfectly rigid. In drawing out a bar of it into wire the change of form compels the particles of the metal to slide or shear over each other, just as in the flow of a liquid. So great are the pressures that can be applied by modern mechanical science that even steel can be compelled to change its shape without fracture, and at such changes imply fluxion in the metal.

Kept Up the Wailing.

In Abyssinia it was once the habit of complainants to stand before the door of the king's palace, loudly appealing to his majesty for help. "So accented is the king," wrote one traveler, "to these querulous tones of sorrow that when the rains prevent such as are really distressed from repairing to the capital a set of vagrants is provided whose object it is to raise the cry of artificial sorrow lest he should feel a lonely quietness."

Wanted to Be in Style.

SUCCESSOR TO SHIELDS NAMED

Judge A. D. McConnell of Greensburg on Saturday appointed W. G. Muse of West Newton as county commissioner in the place of John E. Shields, who is serving a term in the Western penitentiary on a charge of embezzlement and malfeasance in office while sheriff of Westmoreland county. Shields recently sent his resignation from the penitentiary to the county authorities there.

Muse is chief engineer for the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal company and is a Republican. He will serve the unexpired term of Shields who was elected a year ago as county commissioner after he had been convicted on the charges preferred against him.

Ouster proceedings had been instituted against Shields by Attorney General John C. Bell. The resignation was received about the same time and it was accepted, making further action of the ouster proceedings unnecessary.

INJURED WHILE CRANKING AUTO; MACHINE BURNS

Will M. Gault, the local contractor was injured this afternoon about 1:45 o'clock, when an accident happened while he was cranking his automobile near where he is building some houses on North Charleroi hill. The machine caught fire and was practically destroyed.

Just how the accident occurred is somewhat of a mystery. Mr. Gault says he was cranking the machine when suddenly something hit him a severe blow. Then the machine took fire. Dr. H. J. Repman was summoned from Charleroi and Kerfoot W. Daly went down in his machine to bring Mr. Gault home. His injuries it is said are painful but should not prove serious.

FRENZIED VOTING THE ORDER AT MONONGAHELA

Claimed There Is Lack of Balance in Ballots and Registration

IN SECOND PRECINCT

Election Board Summoned to Appear in Court to Show How They Tabulated

Alleged irregularities in the vote from the second precinct of the second ward, Monongahela, has caused the members of the election board, E. T. Nichols, judge; Finley Deane and J. P. Hendrickson, inspectors and Horace L. Yohe and S. Clark Wilson to be summoned to appear before the court Wednesday according to the Washington Record. They will be interrogated as to how it is possible for 424 votes to be counted when there are only 338 registered voters in the precinct. This system of frenzied voting is to be thoroughly investigated. The votes don't balance by 104.

When the return sheet was hung out after the official tabulation had been made at Monongahela, the discrepancy was discovered. Archie Powell, the candidate on four tickets for Auditor General was the chief beneficiary of the high vote. On the Republican ticket he received 96 votes. The Bull Moose ticket added 4, the Roosevelt Progressive 11 and the Washington 149, giving him a total of 260. The other candidates for the office of auditor general received the following votes, according to the return sheet: Cresswell, Democratic-Keystone, 118; Conon, Prohibitionist, 11 and Eldridge, Socialist, 40 or a total of 224.

The presidential vote seems to figure out correctly, according to those who say they have looked into the matter. Taft received 44 votes, Wilson 101, Roosevelt 3 on the Bull Moose, 6 on the Roosevelt-Progressive and 123 on the Washington or a total of 142. Debs was given 35 and Chafin, the cold water candidate, 7. These total 319.

For congress the discrepancy is not as large as for auditor general but it apparently is 69 votes too large. The return sheet posted up shows Matthews to have received 69 votes, Lacoek 110, Temple 160, Peables, Prohibitionist, 11 and Frethy, Socialist, 37.

On the legislative ticket the vote was as follows: Allison, R., 72; Feehey, R., 59; Walker, R., 74; C. Carson, D., 148; McFarland, D., 114; Post, D., 117; Fish, P., 12; Hall, P., 12; Van Orden, P., 8; Goazious, S., 38; Norman, S., 37; Reed, S., 39; J. I. Carson, K., 1; Johnson, K., 1; Allen, W., 134; Brownlee, W., 133; McCalmont, W., 131.

ONE DEAD AS RESULT OF A FEUD

Shooting in Fayette Is Caused by Quarrel Years Ago

START INVESTIGATION

One brother is dead and another dying as the result of a shooting at Albany, near Brownsville Sunday morning. The affair was the culmination of a feud that began across the sea years ago. The unidentified foreigners were the assailants.

The Dead:
STEVE WALLICK, aged 23, a miner of Albany.

The Wounded:
GEORGE WALLICK, aged 21, a miner of Albany; fatally wounded; taken to McKeesport Hospital.

The place where the shooting occurred was within sight of several houses. The Wallick brothers are said to have greeted the strangers, who pulled revolvers and began firing. Steve Wallick fell with a bullet through the heart. George Wallick received a bullet in the abdomen. The gunmen replaced their revolvers in their pockets and walked away.

County Detective John Smith and Sheriff M. A. Kiefer of Fayette county were notified and are at work on the case. Friends of the Wallick brothers can give no reason for the attack except differences which arose in their native land.

Big Feature at the Palace.

A gripping, human interest drama has been booked for the Palace Theatre Monday. This is "The Past That Returns," in three reels, which tells the story of a good woman gone wrong and her bitter repentance when she realizes the consequences of her act. It is a powerful emotional plot of love, happiness and despair, in which the extremes of human emotion are most graphically portrayed.

Ellsworth and Cokeburg Combine Efforts and Good Work Draws Commendation of State Superintendent Schafer

In his annual report, of which advance proof sheets have been released to the press, Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of education, has a word of praise for Washington county districts in regard to industrial education. In discussing the progress he points to a striking instance of good methods, saying:

"In Washington county the Ellsworth and Cokeburg boards have organized an industrial school for industrial work in their schools, suitable to the mining region in which the villages are located. Ninety per cent of the school populations are of foreign parentage and 95 per cent of the boys return to the mines upon reaching the age of 14.

"A study of the local conditions at Ellsworth and Cokeburg resulted in the following work being suggested for the schools: Handwork for both boys and girls in the first four grades, cooking, sewing, home nursing, laundering and sanitation for the girls, principles of mining law for the boys in the fifth to eighth grades, inclusive and in addition to the mining law for the boys in the seventh and eighth grades, manual training, reading and drawing of simple maps.

"The principles of mining law, reading and drawing of maps, measuring of brick, area-ways and gangways were recommended for the continuation class. This class is open to boys from 14 to 18 years of age who are employed in the mines and provides for one-half day a week for instruction. (It is entirely possible that the boys enrolling in the continuation class will be paid for their time by the colliery company.)

"Mining law, mining arithmetic and mechanical drawing will be taught in the night vocational school so as to aid the men in their preparation for the mine examinations. Manual training, cooking, sewing, mining law and mechanical drawing will be part of the high school work.

"These various courses are being organized at the present writing and by December 1, barring unforeseen difficulties, all departments will be in operation. The work at Ellsworth has been made possible by the hearty co-operation of Prof. C. B. Robertson of the University of Pittsburgh. Superintendent Bach and the officials of the Ellsworth Collieries Company."

Speaking of manual training schools which are being rapidly introduced in the state, Dr. Schaeffer calls attention to a new phase of the situation by quoting the words of a prominent superintendent, who has encountered obstacles in existing factory laws. This superintendent says:

"It seems to me unwise to pass laws to prevent children from working in factories and mills under 14 years of age and then tax the communities to provide similar work in the schools on the plea that the children should be taught in the schools to use such machinery in order to earn wages after they leave school, when they could learn its use in a factory or mill, and receive wages while learning."

HAS HEAD SEVERED WHEN RUN OVER BY SHIFTING ENGINE

Run down by a shifting engine on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad at Monessen George Rovnok, aged 20, was instantly killed Saturday night at about 9 o'clock. His head and both arms were severed from his body. Rovnok was employed as a water boy. It is supposed he got mixed in the tracks on which he thought the engine was approaching and was hitting to escape.

TRYING TO BOOST SALE OF CIGARETS BY MOVING PICTURES

An effort is being made by a certain tobaccocompany to boost the sale of cigarettes through the instrumentality of moving picture theatres. Coupon tickets are being sent to the theatres which are presumably to be stamped with the name of the theatre and turned over to the dealer, who in turn gives them out to the purchasers of the cigarettes. Each coupon is then to be redeemed by the theatre for one-half cent.

While the moving picture theatres pretty generally are rejecting the proposition, it might be well for them to realize that they are likely to get in wrong with the law if they take up the proposition. According to the laws of Pennsylvania it is illegal to sell cigarettes to a minor under 21 years of age. A theatre manager who honors the cigaret coupons would have to exercise the same care that a saloon keeper does against selling liquor to minors, otherwise he might be held as an accessory in the illegal sales of cigarettes. As in all likelihood more minors would present coupons than adults moving picture theatres would have more trouble with the propositions than they would profit.

Anyhow, the most of the managers consider it would be only encouraging children in the habit of smoking cigarettes and for that reason alone will have nothing to do with the proposition.

SMALLPOX COSTLY TO COMMUNITY

Dr. Dixon Makes Report of Epidemic at Carbondale

MERCHANTS SUFFERED

Reduction in merchants' receipts $60,000. Of this amount 20 per cent or $12,000 represented the loss of actual profits, $12,000; loss to hotel proprietors, $3,500; loss to proprietors of places of amusement, $4,500; loss in railway receipts, $3,437; loss in street railways, $700; expense to the city for guard service, physicians, fees, disinfections, etc., $6,567; maintenance of quarantined families, $2,000; total, $31,000.

These figures do not include the losses sustained by quarantined wage earners, the loss of the railroad companies on inbound business or the loss to the smaller merchants and business men through stagnation of trade. $31,000, a heavy price to pay for a lock on the stable door.

It has been demonstrated that public health is a purchasable commodity. The work of Col. Gorgas in the Canal Zone is an irrefutable example of that fact. The failure of a community to guard itself against preventable disease is due to incapacity on the part of the officials whose duty it is to protect the public health, parsimony or both.

The Carbondale Board of Health failed to require the reporting of chickenpox. In the majority of cases so called chickenpox in adults, in the Continued on second page.

Roscoe Youth Shot in Leg When He Trips and Falls

IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Amputation Found to Be Necessary and Operation Will Be Performed

The first hunting accident of this community reported this morning, may end fatally to John Shoup, a 16-year-old lad of Roscoe, who accidentally shot himself at noon today and it was stated that it would require an amputation of his injured limb at the hip. Fears are entertained for his recovery.

With a few companions the young man was out hunting this morning on the opposite side of the river from Roscoe. Tripping over a hidden branch of a fallen tree he went down. His shot gun was knocked from his grasp. Something struck the hammer and the gun went off.

The muzzle of the weapon was almost against his leg when the gun went off. Shot filled the fleshy part of his leg near the thigh and entered the bone. He cried for help and secured the aid of his friends. Dr. Lutes of Roscoe was summoned and the young man sent to the hospital, with his father. He is a well known lad in Roscoe and vicinity.

CONFLICTING FORCES.

In the agitation for more effective education for the masses, it is now generally agreed among educators
that one of the reasons why the majority of pupils do not acquire a solid fundamental training in the grade schools is because work and habits of industry are not interwoven during the school period. Fifty years ago, when farming was the basic industry
every school boy knew what it was to do work during vacation periods and outside of school hours. While attending school he had chores to do mornings and evenings, and on Saturdays he put in a full day husking
corn, shelling beans, sorting potatoes
or apples, or on the threshing floor.
The girls did likewise. They helped make apple butter, did the churning mornings and evenings, and lent their aid in converting live stock into sausage, lard and scrap.

Now a school boy up to the age of fourteen does not know what work or duty means. He has no chores to do, and the child labor laws will not permit him to work during vacations.
He acquires the habits of idleness and learns to spend money without the slightest idea of what effort or energy it takes to earn money. To him a dollar means so many times to the picture show, the ball game, the circus, or so many cigarettes. To a farm boy fifty years ago a dollar meant so many bushels of potatoes or grain, and that product meant so many days of toil in the fields. Consequently he had the whole basic economy of wealth drilled into him along with his schooling, and when he quit school at the age of fourteen or sixteen, he knew as well as any adult
the relation of work and wealth.

Nowadays a boy who leaves school hardly knows the relation of industry to wealth. He gets a job in a mill or factory, and is set at some task of which he knows absolutely nothing about—why it is done or what relation it has to the whole. He is woefully deficient in fundamental knowledge, as his school training had absolutely no relation to work or the duties of life. Now the schools are trying to introduce work in connection with educational training and they find themselves handicapped by children under fourteen working during vacation periods, when it is most necessary to establish a fundamental relation between work and education.
It is a most serious problem.

SMALL FARMS.

Of all the European countries which are now agitating about the high cost of living, less complaint is heard from France than from any of the other countries. This is because France is largely an agricultural nation and the farms are in small holdings. The French are not a wealthy people, but they are exceedingly thrifty and the common people own and till the farms which in England and most of the other countries are largely in the hands of the nobility.
In France eighty per cent of the land is under cultivation, and fifty-seven per cent of it is in holdings of less than thirteen acres. England not one-tenth of the land is under cultivation.

France not only produces enough agricultural products to supply her own people, but she has a surplus for exportation. There is practically no waste land in the whole country, and as it is owned in small holdings by the people it is highly cultivated, and produces more per acre than in any other country. That is why one does not hear much about poverty in France, although the people are not wealthy. In 1871, when France was defeated by Prussia in the Franco-Prussian war, the latter country imposed a war indemnity of 5,000,000, 000 francs on the French government. This was promptly paid without issuing a solitary scrap of paper currency or borrowing a single franc outside of the country. The government issued interest-bearing bonds in small denominations and the French people invested their savings in them.
This is a financial achievement is still the wonder of financiers, and the instance figures as a striking example in finance in text books on political economy.

If the farming lands of Pennsylvania were divided into thirteen acre farms there would be a different story to tell in regard to the high cost of living. There is uncultivated land enough in this state to produce a livelihood for all of the people within its borders, and still have a surplus.
The wage earners here make more money than do those in France, yet
when a municipality or a country wants to sell on issue of bonds they have to float them in the large financial centres—New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg or Chicago.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In the November number of the Inland Printer is a collection of "Pickups" gleaned from the various newspapers of the country, which show the unconscious humor of those to whom the art of English composition is somewhat laborious, to say the least. Incidentally they demonstrate the inadequacy of the eighth grade schools of the country, at which 90 per cent of our population obtain their education. These are some of the Remains John Underwood.

John Underwood, who died at Whitehouse, England, Feb. 17, 1733, left some odd instructions for his burial. His fortune of $8,000 went to his sister, provided that no bell was tolled at his grave, no relative followed his coffin and various other arrangements were carried out.
Six men only were invited and requested not to come in "black," who received 20 guineas each for their services.
Service over, an arch was raised over the green painted coffin, with "Non Omnia Moriar, 1733," inscribed on white marble. The six men sang the last stanza of the twentieth ode of the second book of Horace. The deceased, who had been confined fully dressed, had under his head "Sanadov's" "Horace," at his feet Bentley's "Milton." In his right hand a Greek Testament and in his left hand a small "Horace." The six on repairing to his house to a cold repast had to sing the thirty-first ode and drink a cheerful glass before retiring at 8 p. m. This done, directed the will, "Think no more of John Underwood."

Books in Ancient Rome.

It has been pointed out that in old Rome books were actually produced and sold more easily and quickly than they are in modern times. With his trained staff of readers and transcribers,
it is contended, an ancient Roman publisher could turn out an edition of any work at very cheap rates and almost a moment's notice. There was,
of course, no initial expense of type-setting before a single copy could be produced, no costly extras in the form of printer's corrections. The manuscript came from the author; the publisher handed it to his slaves, and if the book were of ordinary dimensions
the complete edition could, it is said,
be ready in necessary within twenty-four hours. The old Roman libraries were immense as well as splendid.
Plutarch says that the library of Lu-cullus, who expended much of his money on books, "had walks, galleries and cabinets open to all visitors." It was proposed by Julius Caesar to open this library to the public—Harper's.

Eating in the Fifth Act of Life.

The advice which Sydney Smith gave to Lord Murray on the subject of diet was probably sound. "If you wish for anything like happiness in the fifth act
of life," he wrote, "eat and drink one-half of what you could eat and drink.
Did I ever tell you my calculations about eating and drinking? Having ascertained the weight of what I could live upon so as to preserve
health and strength, and what I did live upon, I found that between ten and seventy years of age I had eaten
and drunk forty-four horse wagon loads of meat and drink more than would have preserved me in life and health. The value of this mass of nourishment I considered to be worth $7,000. It occurred to me that I must,
by my voracity, have starved to death
fully 100 persons. This is a frightful calculation, but irresistibly true."

How a Woman Saved Nice.

It happened in August, 1543, and is recalled by Mrs. Walter Tibbits in "Cities Seen in East and West." Nice (then under the dukes of Savoy) was being besieged by Francis I. and Barbarossa.

Catherine Segurine was a washerwoman whose creed was laborare est orare. She carried food to the defenders on the ramparts still left. The Turks had put up a scaling ladder.
The captain led his party, and they were actually on the parapet. She rushed at the Turkish officer, wrenched
the ladder from his grasp, beat him back with the butt end and threw down the ladder on top of all.
Then, rallying the soldiers, they threw open a postern, made a sortie and drove the Turks to the shore.

The Pitt Diamond.

A historical diamond is the Regent or Pitt diamond. In weight it is 186 1/2 carats, and in clearness it is un-rivaled. Its form is nearly perfect, its diameter and depth being almost equal.
It was found in India and brought to England by Mr. Pitt, grandfather of the famous Earl of Chatham, and sold by him to the Duc d'Orleans for $130,- 000. It afterward decorated the royal crown of France, and Napoleon used it to ornament the hilt of his sword.

PENSION FUND OF $10,000,000 FOR EMPLOYEES

F. B. Burwell, local manager of the Bell telephone system announces that $10,000,000 for pensions, sick benefits and life insurance will be available next January 1 for the employees of the Bell Telephone system and associated interests. The fund will be created from year to year by appropriations of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and associated companies, the Western Union Telegraph company and the Western Electric company. This provision, Mr. Burwell states, is made without contributions of any kind
from the employees.

Male employees who have reached the age of 60 years and who have been 20 years or more in service, may retire on pensions. They may be retired at the option of the company
when they have reached the age of 55
years and have been 25 years or more in service. The pension age of female employees is in each case five years younger than that of male employees. Any employee who has been 30 years in service, regardless of age may be pensioned on the approval of the president of the company.

In the case of accidents occurring in and due to the performance of work for the company, the employee will receive for total disability, full pay for 13 weeks and half pay for the remainder of disability, up to six years.

If the disability is temporary, he will receive full pay for 13 weeks and half pay until able to earn a livelihood, not exceeding six years.

Employees who are disabled by sickness or accident outside of the regular course of duty after ten years or more service, will receive full pay for 13 weeks and half pay for 39 weeks; if from five to ten years
in service, full pay for thirteen weeks and a half pay for thirteen weeks; if from two to five years in service, full pay for four weeks and half pay for nine weeks. In the case of employees who have not been two years in service, heads of departments will be permitted the same discretion as heretofore, in containing pay during temporary illness.

In the case of death resulting from accident in and due to performance of work for the company, an insurance amounting to three years' pay will be paid to the dependents of the employee, the maximum payment being $5,000.

In case of death resulting from sickness or from accident outside of business the payment will be one year's pay for employees who have been ten years or more in service and one-half of one year's pay for employees who have been from five to ten years in service, the maximum payment being $2,000.

presence of a smallpox epidemic, has been found to be a mild type of that disease. The reporting, supervision and placarding was neglected, quarantine was not required, proper medical inspection service was not maintained, as a result smallpox spread rapidly. Then followed heavy financial loss, civic disgrace and serious inconvenience to citizens owing to the practical cessation of social intercourse in the churches, schools and places of amusement.

The rapid increase of the disease menaced adjoining communities and the health of the State at large,
which necessitated the taking charge
of public health work in the city by Dr. Dixon, commissioner, effective, as a result business and social life has resumed its normal aspect and the adjoining communities were effectively protected.

Carbondale's loss of money and prestige through indifference to the administration of her public health affairs, affords an example of the results which follow failure to realize that able and effective public health work is something which pays huge dividends.

DO YOU ENJOY EATING

Or Does Everything You Eat Distress You.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions also usually go together.

John Lind, of Oneonta, N. Y., says
"I had a bad stomach trouble for fifteen year and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work.
My appetite was very poor and it seemed impossible to get any relief.
Since taking two bottles of Vinol I find that it has already made a remarkable improvement in my health,
my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest
stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Pi-

A Lucky Error.

"Printers' errors are usually annoying, but a printer's error saved the life of my best friend." The speaker was Cosmo Hamilton, the English writer.
He continued:

"Horace Hamfat is an actor. Rich today, he was poor and a failure up to the age of forty. His life up to that age was passed in the provinces on two or three quid a week. A quid, by the way, is $5. Well, one Saturday in Manchester Horace Hamfat's show went up the manager fled, and Horace for three days lived on bread and dripping. Then a letter came to him from a London admirer inclosing £10.

"The admirer forwarded also an item
from a theatrical page that Horace himself had written—'Horace Hamfat is starting in Manchester.' But the typesetter and made this item read,
truly enough:

"Horace Hamfat is starting in Manchester."—New York Press.

Good Clothes for Well Dressed Men

Suits for $15.00 to $45.00
Overcoats $15.00 to $50.00

Why not come to Horne's in Pittsburgh and select the clothes you will wear this winter? Why not be dressed in the METROPOLITAN way?

We buy our clothes from makers who put individuality into their product, and who sell them to us BECAUSE OF THAT FACT, not merely because they are an extensively advertised line.

The men of the country have demanded a change from "boiler front" coats to the soft rolling lapel and the natural shoulders.

We have them—different, yet not extreme; stylish yet not faddish.

Hundreds of men from your town and other towns are coming to us for their Suits and Overcoats this Fall because THEY GET SOMETHING DIFFERENT.

ROUSED THE AUDIENCE.

A Mining Camp Melodrama With an Unexpected Climax.
Joseph Jefferson used to say that his career came very near being nipped in the bud in a small western town. He at that time was a member of a small pioneer company which progressed by means of three "bull teams" from one mining camp to another. They were always heartily received by the miners and cowboys, who readily paid the $5 in gold required to witness their performance. Mr. Jefferson was the traditional melodramatic villain and in the third act was supposed to kidnap "the child." The supposed mother, bearing his cries, rushes upon the scene just as he is about to escape and fires a fruitless shot from a revolver. Upon this particular occasion all had gone well until this scene was reached, and the audience, many of whom had never before seen any kind of theatrical performance, sat as if spellbound. At the crack of the mother's revolver, however, the spell was rudely broken. "By heaven she missed him!" a red shirted miner in the front row shouted, drawing his own six shooter and leaping to his feet. "Round to the back door and head him off 'fore he can get a boss, boys!" he yelled, and following him, half the audience stampeded for the exit. The excitement was finally allayed by the "mother" and the villain appearing upon the stage before the curtain and the manager's explanation of the situation. When the performance had been concluded the audience insisted on paying another admission price and having an immediate repetition from beginning to end.

A Little Misunderstanding.
"Sir, your son's performance on the French horn is execrable. It will drive everybody from my house. You told me he was a teacher."
"I did not. I said he was a tooter."

Reason For Gratitude.
"So you're friendly with Cranker, are you? Why, he tells me that he won't have a thing to do with you."
"That's just why I feel kindly toward the old crab."

Subtle Slander.
A local paper giving the details of a wedding says: "Mrs. Mullins, the wife of our enterprising milkman, was becomingly attired in watered silk."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Speak as you think; be what you are; pay your debts of all kinds."

While Bismarck Was Living at Frankfurt, early in his career, he was one day at a public table with a friend, when two young ladies who sat opposite began talking to each other in the Lettish language. From their manner it was evident to Bismarck that they were talking about him. It happened that he had once made a visit to Courland, one of the Baltic provinces, and had picked up a few Lettish phrases. When the ladies had talked and laughed for some time he whispered to his companion:

"The moment I say something to you in an unintelligible tongue take a key from your pocket and hand it to me."

The young ladies kept on, and suddenly Bismarck said in an unconcerned tone to his friend:

"Dohd man to aziek."

The second man at once produced a key. The young ladies from Courland looked at their opposite neighbors, then at each other and, blushing violently, rose and left the room.

How White China Was Discovered.
Of many incidences in which an accidental discovery revolutionized a whole industry there is none more striking than that which enabled Samuel Astbury, in 1720, to impart to pottery that white glaze which is its chief beauty. Chancing, while journeying to London, to halt at Banbury, he was badly inflamed. He consulted the hostler, who hung a redhot flint into a basin of water, thereby easily reducing it to a powder, which he applied to the injured eye. Astbury, who had watched the process, guessed that at length he had solved the problem which had so long perplexed him. He procured a quantity of flint, had it finely ground and pulverized, and mixing the powder with pipe clay and water, applied it to his ware, which, after the final baking, became white and shining. This invention, which he improved upon by introducing calcined flint into the body of the ware, was soon universally adopted.—Exchange.

Beauty of Colonial Gateposts.
Perhaps no other feature of the architecture of the old colonies is so well designed and so picturesque as the gateposts of the old houses. The meeting point of house and grounds always presents a difficult problem, even in the best suburban architecture. Shrubby, often, and gates this unsuitable intersection. The solution is to be found in a little of interesting detail and backed up by hedges, solved the problem most satisfactorily. Yet this best solution must be used with discretion. The suburban street broken up into many small lots, there should be an agreement on the part of several neighbors to put up the same sort of fence, otherwise the different heights and shapes of the fences would be too disturbing to add any beauty to the houses. In other words, a good picket fence demands a certain amount of continuity to do it justice. In the gateposts, however, a great variety could be displayed, and where there is a group of little colonial houses, or even only colonial doorways, the famous old gateposts of Salem offer a wealth of suggestion.—Country Life in America.

Under a Fly's Wing.
One of the Nuremberg toy-makers enclosed in a cherry stone which was exhibited at the French Crystal palace a plan of Sevastopol, a railway station and the city of Moscow. At more remote times an account is given of an ivory chariot, constructed by Hieronides, which was so small that a fly could cover it with his wing; also a ship of the same material which could be hidden under the wing of a bee. Play, too, tells us that Homer's "Iliad," with its 15,000 verses, was written in so small a space as to be contained in a nutshell. While Elian mentions an artist who wrote a distich in letters of gold which he inclosed in the rind of a kernel of corn. But the Harleian manuscripts mention a greater curiosity than any of the above, it being nothing more or less than the Bible written by one Peter Bales, a chancery clerk, in so small a book that it could be inclosed in the shell of an English walnut.

New Canaries.
A circus man told a story illustrating how soft hearted and sympathetic some of the ringmasters are when the acrobats get hurt. The heroine of the story was a girl who did the four horse act, the six horse act, the trapeze and the flying bar, for all of which she received the princely remuneration of $40 a week.
One day she fell forty feet from the trapeze and, landing precipitately and ill advised on her left wrist, broke the bone near the elbow. The ringmaster ran up and sympathized as follows with certain profane remarks which are here excluded:
"What is that? do you mean by falling out of that trapeze? I'm a sort of a gun if some of you ginks don't try to put a chip into this show every time we lift the tent"—Popular Magazine

Slightly Mixed.
General Adam Baudou told a good story of a visit he once made in London with two friends. They had been invited to a social reception in the west end, and when they arrived they were met by a monkey of gigantic stature, with nose and in the air.
"Nonsense, please," he said. And the spokesman replied modestly, "General Baudou, Colonel Grant and Colonel Cook."
With imposing stride the monkey advanced to the doors, threw them wide open and announced: "General Baudou, Colonel Grant and the colonel's cook."

Jacks and Crocodile Eggs.
Jacks and hyenas are very fond of crocodile eggs. The former is the more successful purchaser of the two. Natives of central Africa say that the jackal has sixteen eyes, with one of which he catches the eggs and with the fifteen others he looks out for the crocodile. The hyena, on the other hand, being very greedy, has all his eyes on the eggs and so often falls a victim to the watchful crocodile in motionless hiding. The natives say, too, that the crocodile sometimes knocks its prey off the bank or off the canoe with its tail and then seizes it with its wide open jaws.

That Was All.
"Skuttings, how came you to quit working for Spelensh & Co.?"
"We had a difference of opinion as to the value of my services for another year."
"Was that all?"
"Yes. I thought I was worth $100 to them, and they thought I wasn't worth $100 to them. So I quit. What else would a self-respecting man do?"—Lingo Tribune

Illuminating.
The following item is said to appear in a list of jokes and riddles passed up on a highway in Germany. "I will further notice every vehicle must carry a lamp when darkness begins. Darkness is not a law, the lights are."

A Queen Anne Mince Pie.
Take a large cow's tongue, parboil it in three pounds of tongue take five pounds of beef suet, cut the tongue in thin slices and shred it, but shred the suet by itself; when they are both prettily fine put in the suet by degrees, keep shredding them both together till they are as fine almost as flour; then put in three pounds of currants, being first washed, picked and dried, cloves, mace, nutmegs, cinnamon, beat very fine all together three-quarters of an ounce, and a pound of white sugar, a pound of dates stoned and shredded, three ounces of green citron, three ounces of candied orange cut into small thin bits, the yellow rind of two raw lemons grated, three spoonfuls of verjuice, a gill of mulling sack, half a gill of rosewater. These being well mixed, fill your pie; have a care they do not stand too long in the oven to dry after they are long enough.—From a Cookbook of 1765.

Metals.
Mercury, of course, is fluid at all ordinary temperatures. Of the metals which are commonly regarded as solid, lead can be made to flow with great ease. If by hydraulic pressure it is forced into a cylinder with a hole in the side of it it will, when the cylinder is full, flow out of the hole in a solid, barlike stream. The harder metals, as gold and silver, obviously undergo slight fluid motions in the process of coining, as iron is not perfectly rigid. In drawing out a bar of it into wire the change of form compels the particles of the metal to slide or shear over each other, just as in the flow of a liquid. So great are the pressures that can be applied by modern mechanical science that even steel can be compelled to change its shape without fracture, and at such changes imply fluxion in the metal.

Kept Up the Wailing.
In Abyssinia it was once the habit of complainants to stand before the door of the king's palace, loudly appealing to his majesty for help. "So accustomed is the king," wrote one traveler, "to these querulous tones of sorrow that when the rains prevent such as are really distressed from repairing to the capital a set of vagrants is provided whose object it is to raise the cry of artificial sorrow lest he should feel a lonely quietness."

Wanted to Be in Style.
A customer in a butcher's shop stood gazing at some small alligators in an aquarium. Having turned the matter over in his mind, the customer approached the butcher and exclaimed, "I suppose a body might as well be dead as out of style. (Glance a couple of pounds of alligator.)"

SUCCESSOR TO SHIELDS NAMED

Judge A. D. McConnell of Greensburg on Saturday appointed W. G. Muse of West Newton as county commissioner in the place of John E. Shields, who is serving a term in the Western penitentiary on a charge of embezzlement and malfeasance in office while sheriff of Westmoreland county. Shields recently sent his resignation from the penitentiary to the county authorities there.
Muse is chief engineer for the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal company and is a Republican. He will serve the unexpired term of Shields who was elected a year ago as county commissioner after he had been convicted on the charges preferred against him.
Ouster proceedings had been instituted against Shields by Attorney General John C. Bell. The resignation was received about the same time and it was accepted, making further action of the ouster proceedings unnecessary.

INJURED WHILE CRANKING AUTO; MACHINE BURNS

Will M. Gault, the local contractor was injured this afternoon about 1:45 o'clock, when an accident happened while he was cranking his automobile near where he is building some houses on North Charleroi hill. The machine caught fire and was practically destroyed.
Just how the accident occurred is somewhat of a mystery. Mr. Gault says he was cranking the machine when suddenly something hit him a severe blow. Then the machine took fire. Dr. H. J. Repman was summoned from Charleroi and Kerfoot W. Daly went down in his machine to bring Mr. Gault home. His injuries it is said are painful but should not prove serious.
